Stockholm -- A new, violent campaign against Titoists, who now go under the name of Gomulkaists, has been introduced in Poland, where the resistance to the Russian policy and the Cominform-directed line is, at present, stronger than in any other Russian vassal state.

According to what refugees from the east report, a large number of agitators, having received special training in Moscow, have been sent to Poland to combat Gomulkaism.

In a message to the agitators, Stefan Zombrowski declared that traitors in the party and those guilty of deviating from the Stalinist line have had too easy a time of it in the past. Zombrowski, who is a well-known member of the Politburo and who wields great influence among the Russians, simultaneously made no secret of the fact that a new purge of the party ranks will follow the agitation campaign.

It is reported that more than 50 percent of the Poles convicted of political crimes by the present regime are former Communists. This percentage is higher than for any other of the Russian vassal states, which also indicated that Poland is a leader in the matter of resistance to the Russians.
